Drivers of Strategic Thinking

Strategic Thinking

Pure & Simple

*Out-think, Out-do, Out-pace
Competitors and Achieve
Sustainable Supremacy*

Strategic Thinking is not strategic planning. A clear, well-articulated strategy defines the corporate mission for those charged with carrying it out. Unfortunately in most companies the strategy resides solely in the head of CEO or in a leather-bound report that sits on the shelf collecting dust. As management attempts to implement the strategy, the organization zigzags from event to event, lacking clear direction. The company loses momentum. Resources are wasted.

A Proven, World-Class Process for Formulating the Game Changing Strategy

Since 1980, the founders of Decision Processes International (DPI) has worked closely with and observed the thought processes of skilled strategic thinkers – CEOs of successful major companies around the world – to codify and create the Strategic Thinking Process. Strategic Thinking Pure & Simple gives top and senior management a powerful, repeatable process to think, act strategically, and implement effective corporate strategies to achieve desired supremacy over competitors. The immediate result is a concise, measurable, and repeatable strategy that is clearly understood and supported by those who will make it happen.
